THE HERBACEOUS PEONY

The herbaceous peony of today stands unchallenged as the most popular of hardy plants, and its friends who know its possibilities and its many good qualities are willing to back it against all comers as the best and most beautiful flower that grows. Its popularity has increased by leaps and bounds in the United States during the last two decades since the new improved varieties have been developed and become known. There are at present some 2,000 varieties of Japanese, French, Dutch, English and American origin; the public has been quick to appreciate the improved varieties, and demand the best; till now it holds full sway during June, which is becoming rather the month of peonies than of roses.

Peonies range in color from cream and purest white through the various shades of pink, lilac, rose and red to the deepest carmine, purple and maroon, in every possible combination of shade and form. Size varies from four to eight inches in diameter. Most of them have a delightful fragrance.

CULTURE

This is one of the strong points. Nothing is easier to grow. As contrasted with the rose, chrysanthemum, and carnation, which can be perfected only under the skillful care of the expert florist, the peony needs but to be put into good rich soil and left alone, where for eight, ten or even twenty years it will increase in size and beauty each year. If given a mulch of manure in the late fall, which is left on all winter, the added enrichment of the soil will perhaps yield more and better blooms, but it is not needed as a protection.

When dormant in early fall they can be shipped long distances without injury. It is possible to transplant and ship them in the spring, but we do not recommend it, as they then undergo a severe set-back, and do not bloom as freely for several years. The very best time is September, and that is when we begin filling orders.

They should be planted with eyes two to three inches below the surface and the ground pressed firmly about the roots. They can be divided as small as desired, so long as each piece has at least one good strong eye on a piece of tuber.

VARIETIES

In the beginning of our nursery we carried a limited number of Peonies, but as early as 1888 had in cultivation over three hundred varieties personally selected from the best stock to be had in Europe. From that day to this we have made a special study of this interesting plant and have accumulated all there is to be had in literature, as well as tested every kind offered anywhere.

We make no pretense of carrying or offering for sale a complete collection of every known Peony, but after passing through a thorough test of several years, those of decided merit and difference are retained.

The points of excellence taken into consideration in making this selection are: Free blooming, strong stems, shape, fullness, keeping qualities, and freedom from blight, also shade and fragrance, with attention given to extending the period of blooming. For instance, Virginie is almost equal to Princess Beatrice, but we will ultimately drop it, so anyone buying it gets a very choice sort at a very low figure. We carry, for instance, a few Richardson's rubra superba because it is so unique in coming so late, but the general grower would be disappointed in it for its scarcity of flowers. Our annual records run back for twenty-three years and only those that make a strong showing are kept.

SHIPMENTS

We begin lifting peonies and iris September first and orders in at that time will then be filled in rotation. Unless shipping directions are given, we will ship small orders by express, and larger by freight, according to our own judgment. We use great care in packing so that they will not suffer in transit nor become mixed.

PRICES

Prices are for stock packed for shipment. We will supply six of one variety at the dozen rate and twenty-five of one variety at the hundred rate. We do not sell divisions except at wholesale, and even then not less than six of one variety.

For local planting we would be pleased to make special arrangements.

TERMS

From new customers, cash with order or before shipment is made, or satisfactory bank reference.

On orders from this catalogue amounting to $100.00 or more we will make a special discount of 10 per cent. No other discount.

SIZES

By divided plants we mean strong divisions having at least 2 to 4 good eyes, often more. Small plants are one year old with one or two stalks of this year's growth. Medium are two years old with three to five stalks. Large plants are three years old with six to ten or twelve stalks.

IRIS OR FLEUR DE LIS

No other flower has so many combinations of color, especially of the delicate and unusual shades, and the name of Rainbow Flower is most fitting.

They are absolutely hardy, as beautiful in form, texture and coloring as any orchid, and many are delightfully fragrant. They are not particular as to soil—will grow where anything will, but do better in well-drained locations.

A Block of our German Iris

The following list is selected after many years of systematic testing, similar to our peony studies, and contains all the most desirable and distinct varieties, collected from England, France, Germany and elsewhere.

We aim to have just as limited a list as will embrace all desirable varieties in shape, color, and the combinations of colors with as great a range of blooming period as possible.

The first Iris bloom about May 15th, and there is a continuous succession from that time till the end of June.

Figures given indicate length of flower stalks.

“S” means Standard, the inside or erect petals.

“F” means Falls, the outside or drooping petals.

Prices for single plants are for good, blooming-size clumps. Those listed by the dozen and hundred are for single roots. We will supply six of one variety at the dozen rate and 25 of one variety at the hundred rate. These prices include packing for shipment. For local planting make arrangements with our planting department.
